Resume Brief

[full details available at website www.fedeli.nu]

I am an experienced and well traveled business man with excellent communication and negotiation skills having been exposed to the cultural, political, legal, business and language differences during my time living and working in Europe (13 years), Asia (7 years) and Australia (20 years). During this time I have undertaken many technical, business and humanitarian projects partnering with people at various levels from laymen to presidents of foreign nations.

I am motivated by challenges, work well under pressure and through my excellent technical background and extensive business experience I am able to create and seize opportunities within the marketplace and develop or transform these into profitable business ventures.

I have 23 years experience in ICT/Business as an entrepreneur, business leader and public speaker, possessing many valuable skills obtained in my various capacities over the years, and undertaken extensive professional and personal development programs providing me with key strengths and expertise in several areas.

I am client focused and solutions oriented and my future interests are in developing business opportunities and managing projects which combine my great skills in strategic management, business development, managing teams, events and training, and results oriented marketing/sales. I am an independent worker, results driven and high achiever able to work with key stakeholders and direct teams at all levels.
